FIRENET OFERBURDENED FOR THE GRAND NATIONAL HANDICAP.

Mr. Belment's Raceland Heads Of the Came Filly-Fresso Comes Again in the Kensico Handicap-Seven Fast Fields of Horses Appear in the Closing Races of the American Jockey Club's Meeting.

The last of the great racing meetings of the year in the vicinity of New York closed in Jerome Park yesterday. The attendance was larger than on any previous day of the meeting: but it was not a gala day assemblage such as gathered of old at the wind-up of the American Jockey Club's fall races. It is true that the double-decked stand was well filled, but the fashionable throng was missed from the lawn under the club house, while few ladies adorned the balcony with their presence. Only a solitary drag of bright orange color reminded old timers of the display that once made the park famous for stylish turnouts, and groups of famous patrons of the turf on the quarter stretch were looked for in vain. The betting throng present saved the meeting from financial disaster. An active member of the club said that while they had not added much to their surplus, the balance was on the The magnet that drew thousands who have survived the press of the betting rings from Gravesend on May 15 to Jerome Park Oct. 13, was the grand National Handicap for three year-olds and upward, at a mile and a half, in which Mr. Haggin's famous filly Firenzi gave lumps of weight to half a dozen crack racers. including twenty-one pounds to Mr. Belmont's great three-year-old, Raceland. Many who believed that the game four-year-old filly could win with Garrison in the saddle at 131 pounds. although the track was anything but fast, piled money on her freely at the post odds of 5 to 2 against; but the ring acted with better judgment, backing Raceland heavily from 7 to 5 against, until the figures went down to 6 to 5. Dunboyne, ridden by Hayward, had many followers at 4 to 1. Hundreds thought Connemara, with Anderson in the saddle, a good investment at 10 to 1, and the Chicago Stable's mare Kalcolah, with Covington up, was taken for a long shot by Western men at 12 to 1. Le Legos, ridden by Church, was the outsider at Caldwell sent the field of seven off in

Mr. Caldwell sent the field of seven off in good shape at the head of the chute under the little brick church, half a mile beyond the grand stand. Connemara caught the eye in the lead at the start, and she made the rise to the homestretch a length in front of Le Logos, Kaloolah, Dunboyne, Raceland, and Firenzi keeping in close order at moderate speed. A shower had made the track a little heavy, and all were held within themselves; Connemara increased the nace on the way down to the stand, leaving it behind with a lead of three lengths, Kaloolah second. Dunboyne lapping the mare, and Racehad made the track a little heavy, and all were held within themselves; Connemara increased the pace on the way down to the stand, leaving it behind with a lead of three lengths, Kaloolah second, Dunboyne lapping the rare, and Raceland and Firenzi trailing. The first hearty roar eame from the eager on-lookers when Connemara dashed around the bend, disappearing behind the club house bluf, six lengths in the lead, the others following in a cluster, with Le Logos at the head, and Firenzia the tail of the bunch. Garrison now began play on Firenzi, moving her into third blace, half lapped by Raceland, while Kaloolah was within half a length of Connemara's heels on the far turn. Kaloolah reached Connemara at the head of the homestreich. Raceland lapped Kaloolah, and Garrison had Firenzi alongside of the bankers horse, all riding for dear life and money. Connemara faded away half way down the stretch. Raceland headed Kaloolah, onening a gap as he approached the stand, while Garrison had to ride hard to snaten the place from Kaloolah. The shouting was not over wild when Raceland crossed the line winner by two lengths. Firenzi second, with Kaloolah at her nose. Dunboyne came in fourth, very lame, and Kaloolah limped when she turned back from the race. The mile and a half was run in 2:39%, within a quarter of a second of the best time made on the track.

Mr. Haggin received consolation for losing the Grand National by landing the Kensico Handicap for two-year-olds with Fresno, ridden by Garrison. The colt carried 117 pounds. The ring moved in a body on Diablo, weighted with 118 and ridden by McLaughlin, bringing the odds down to even money. Mr. Withrey's Cyclone coit, with Taylor up, was a strong second colland come home third, yoked to Pet Morris. Mutuals on Fresno paid $45.60.

The opening race, a dash of one mile, with cluve in it, was a very open affair in the betting ring. Little Minch, with Covington up, was backed by the ring at 3 to 1, Lelex and Huntres following at 5 to 1 each. Filiration. Stockton, with Hayward ne second call at $101, Leiex and Huntress following at $101 each. Flirtation. Stockton, and Huntress made the running with Huntress in the background up to the last furlong, where Covington sent her out with a rush, beating Stockton, ridden by Hayward, a length and a half. Eleve came third, at Stockton's ears. Huntress tickets paid $48.

Stockton, with Hayward in the saddle, appeared again in the fifth race, at a mile and a furlong. for a purse of $750. Rupert, ridden by Garrison, carried a bale of money at 7 to 5 against, while Stockton went begging at 8 to 1. Golden Reei set the pace from an even start, leading to the seventh furlong post. Stockton was never prominent until the field neared the stand. Hayward then sent him home with a rush, whuning the race by four lengths from Maia. Stockton tickets were cashed in at $50.50.

Fordham, at 5 to 4 on, the strongest favorite of the day, made his backers very weary in the selling race at a mile and half a furlong. Williams sent him in the lead on the turn round the bluff, but Covington on Leo H. grappled the favorite on the homestretch and sent him back to fourth place. Leo H, won by a length from Joe Lee, Specialty third, lapped by Fordham.

William Jennings's Glenmound had the call in the betting in the extra race for selling handily. Glenmound and Raceland were the enly favorites to win out of the seven races.

LEXINGTON, Oct. 13.—This was the closing day of the trotting meeting, and, owing to the incaseant rain of the past three days, the track was deep with mud. After going about fifty feet beyond the wire in the first heat in the second race, the great three-year-old Alcagatta second race, the great three-year-old alegans fell dead with what the doctors pronounced paralysis of the heart. OARS FLASH ON THE HARLEM.

Dauntless Men in the N. Y. A. C. Eight-Our Lay Out the Dauntless Eight, Harlem River never looked more inviting to an oarsman than it did yesterday, when the boat clubs belonging to the Harlem Regatta Association sent their swiftest shells, with crack crews to man them, to compete in the twenty-first annual regatta. There was not a ripple on the water, save those made by the wash of passing steamers, and the course of a mile straight away up stream from off Gates's lumber dock to a point 100 yards below Mc-Comb's Dam bridge was fairly alive with spectators, in boats of all sizes. From the balconies of the Atalanta, Union, and Dauntless clubtators, in boats of all sizes. From the balconies of the Atalanta, Union, and Dauntless clubhouses bevies of pretty girls and scores of men cheered the contestants.

The features of the day's sport were the paircared shell, double-skull, and eight-oared shell and belse with and eight-oared shell and shell and eight-oared shell races. Crews from the Union, Nonparell, and New York Rowing Club crew, pulling a steady, clean stroke, had secured a lead of over a length, which they increased to ten at the finish, the Unions being second, and the Nonparells giving it up.

A. J. Buschmann and J. Platt. Jr., of the Ravenswood Club started against crack crews from the Union. Metropolitan, Nonparell, and Varuna Clubs in the double scull race. At the signal they made their shell fairly lead out of the water. At the guarter mile they had a lead of three lengths, at the balf fully five lengths, and at the finish, ten. They covered the course in the remarkable time of 5m. Hs. The Union crew's time was 5:33, and the Nonparell's, 5:37. The Metropolitans dropped out. The eight-onred shell race was perhaps the closest ever seen on the river. Between the old Dauntless crew and the New York Athletic Club crew, seven of whom had seceded from the Dauntless Club, there was a rivalry which resulted in a grand race. The Nonparell and Metropolitan eighths made up the quartet that started. Until the quarter mile was passed neither had the advantage, but before the half was reached the Athletic boys pulled out a clear length ahead of the Dauntless men. They steered a straight course for the finish, winning by three-quarters of a length in 5 minutes 14 seconds, with the Nonparells a good second in 5 minutes 19 seconds, the Dauntless third in 5 minutes 29 seconds, and the Mets last, 5 minutes 30 seconds.

Eighteen boys could not have played ball nuch worse than the Indianapolis and New York Clubs did yesterday. The contest was full of errors; in fact, it was all an error from beginning to end. The ground was soft and slippery from the rain which fell just before the game began. Crane was to have pitched, but when the game began Tim Keefe stepped into the box, amid cheers from the 800 spectators. Everybody thought it would be an easy victory, and, indeed, it looked so from the way the New Yorks started off in the run getting.

The great Tim did not strain himself to any extent, but he pitched good ball for all that, and, had the field work of the home team been less wretched, the club could have won, notwithstanding the fact that they couldn't do much with the pitching of Boyle. Connor played second base in good style, although he was a little slow at the start. There was not a fine play during the whole game. Denny took to keefe's curves nicely, and each of the first three times he came to the bat he made a clean-cut two-bagger. The score:

Chloago Forfeits the Game.

Fritadelphia, Oct. 13.—The game scheduled for te-day between Philadelphia and Chicago was given to the home club by the usual score of nine to nothing, owing to the non-appearance of the Chicago players. It rained rather sharply for about half an hour at noon, and Anson thinking that there would be no game, did not report at the ground. It cleared at about 2 o'clock, and the sun shone brightly during the remainder of the afternoon. Nearly 2.549 people assembled on the outside of the around, but Manager Wright would not open the gates until the arrival of the Chicagos. When it was definitely learned that the Chicagos would not play the crowd chamored for an exhibition game, but that was out of the quastlon.

Anson was seen in the dranting, and in reply to the query why he did not report at the ground, he said? "I was fooled yeareded, the chances to-day. If we had didn in they wouldn't have played anyhow." Al Reach is indigrant ever Anson's action, and thinks that spaiding should call him down. At 8 o'clock Anson spaiding should call him down.

WE KEEP THE CUP.

It is Only a Canoe Cup, but England Boesn's Get it All the Same,

The New York Canoe Club inaugurated a series of International sailing canoe races two years ago for the International Challenge Cup. The second race took place yesterday off the club house at Stapleton. Two years ago Walter Stunrt and Mr. Baden-Powell of the Royal Canoe Club of London came over to compete for the cup, and were defeated by C. B. Vaux of New York Club. Yesterday Stuart again tried to secure the trophy in the Charm, a canoe which he brought over from England. Some time ago there were several preliminary contests here, as a result of which Reginald S. Blake of the Brooklyn Canoe Club was chosen to defend the cup.

The start was made yesterday morning at 11:01. The wind was southerly, and blowing not more than eight miles an hour. The Charm not more than eight miles an hour. The Charm had a big mainsall and small dandy, while Blake's boat, the Eclipse, had mainsall and mizzen nearly equal in size. The course originally decided upon wasta four-mile triangle, but on account of the tide and wind it was abandoned, and a two-mile course running from the club house to a buoy off Clifton, to a buoy in the middle of the channel, and then back to the home buoy, was chosen. It was salled over four times, making a race of eight miles.

The two cances crossed the line twelve seconds apart, Stuart being ahead. After rounding the first buoy the Eclipse kept the lead to the end of the race. When Blake rounded the home stake for the last time at 1.92 o'clock, Stuart was about three-quarters of a mile behind. Blake's elapsed time was 2 hours and 1 minute. Stuart crossed the line at 1:10, elapsed time 2 hours and 9 minutes. The conditions were best two out of three, and at 2:25 o'clock the second race was begun. The wind ditions were best two out of three, and at 2:25 o'clock the second race was begun. The wind had gone down considerably, and the water was almost like glass. The cances tacked to the first buoy, ran to the second, and reached en the homestretch. On the first time around Stuart was ahead until the first buoy was reached. Then Blake shot by him, At the second buoy Stuart took down his mainsail and paddled nome, as he had misjudged the tide and been carried inside the buoy instead of around it, thus losing so much time that the race was practically lost. After paddling home he resumed the race, just to add interest, alrace was practically lost. After paddling home he resumed the race, just to add interest, although he was really out of it. Blake finished in 2 hours 9 minutes, thus keeping the cup this side of the water.

Races for the N. Y. C. C. flags and silver cups were also sailed. For one of them Paul Butler's Fly, representing the Lowell C. C., came in first in 1:58:10. The course was eight miles. The Essex, sailed by Mr. Cox of the Essex Club, came in second in 2:07, and the Guenn, sailed by William Whitlock of the Brooklyns, was third in 2:08.

The club cup race was started at 2:40. The course was shortened to six miles. The Fly finished at 4:14:45, and won. The Guenn finished at 4:16:30, and C. J. Stevens's Yagabond at 4:21:20.

The Hungry Starfish. GREENWICH, Conn., Oct. 13 .- The greatest enemy to oysters and the financial prosperity of the planters, starfish, are literally ruining the oyster trade of the Sound. They have atthe oyster trans of the sound. They have at-tacked everything in the shape of oysters from seed to five-year-olds. The rapidity with which the stars devour a bod of thousands of bushels of oysters is astonishing. When once they get into a bed they never stop eating until all the oysters are gone. Oystermen say that the prices must advance very soon from a scarcity of the bivaive.

Going to Do Away With Moveable Types,

Edward F. Underhill has on exhibition at 22 Spruce street the invention of Mesers. Risley & Lake to do away with movable types in printing. There is but one type for each letter, figure, or punctuation mark, and all are cut on one cylindrical metallic shell. The mechanism is operated by a system of keys similar to that employed in ordinary writing machines. The printing does not begin until the keys for about fifty let printing does not begin until the keys for about fifty let-ters have been touched, when a character at a time is inked immediately before its impression on the paper. A unique feature of the invention is that the spacing out and shortening of the lines known in printers paper, and shortening of the lines known in printers paper, lance as "justification," is automatically accomplished by the machine, independent of any mental effort of the operator, and when the work is done each line is found to end even with the others. To "justify" a line in using movable types, the compositor musi, when it is nearly completed, either put in thicker or thinner spaces.

nearly completed, either put in thicker or thinner spaces.

The reproduction of the work done on the machine now on exhibition is accomplished by lithography. The work of composing on the machine is done in less than a fourth of the time required when movable types are used, the ordinary speed being from twenty to twenty the words a minute. The cost of transferring to the stone is said to be much less than that of making up forms for the press in ordinary printing, and as movable types are not used there is no distribution.

The machine has also been tested with reference to its use for making matrices for the casting of stereotype plates, and the result shows that, with cartain modifications which are now being made, it may be successfully employed for that purpose.

The Manhattan Athletic Club grounds sere gayly decorated yesterday afternoon for the thirteenth annual championship meeting of the National Amateur Athletic Association of America. A big crowd that kept growing bigger until far into the afternoon, in spite of threatening weather, was there to witness the friendly contests between the crack amateurs, Ladies filled the grand stand, and a black mass of people lined the fence on the down-town side, and cheered the splendid contests even if pelting rain did try to cool their enthusiasm. Moffatt's time was 2 minutes 2's seconds.

The 440-yard run was a benutiful race, There were live starters. Ward of the West Sides at the pace to the head of the straight, where T. J. O'Mahony, Gaelic A. Gigantie Barry and Lambrecht and Dr. Daly and Mitchell of the Gaelic A. 8 white and 25 celered. The Board of Health is "ving to come to a correct understanding of the situation in regard to the payment of the Harry Miner nurses. These nurses had been sent down by Harry Miner at his own expense, and had not therefore, been enrolled at the Bureau of Nurses and Medical Attendance, and it is not yet decided who shall pay them. There is also some conflict of opinion as to the length of time for which payment should be made. In the mean time these nurses are in a sad plight, and can-not even get money for their little persona expenses. Harry Miner's donation, as generally understood, was his wiring to Dr. Neal Mitchell as follows:

Will send ten nurses pay their transportation there and home, and their salaries while there.

The Relief Committee have so understood it, hence the condition of the Miner party, so much to be regretted. Robinson, a nurse, says that after failing to collect his bill here he wired Miner repeatedly, without effect. Miner telegraphed yesterday:

Nurses were volunteers and without pay. If this doesn't suit them, send them back at my expense.

The Rev. Dr. Weller relates that when yellow fever broke out in his family, two colored nurses were sent him first, neither of whom could read or write, or even tell time by the clock. The confusion that ensued can be imagined, and the effect on the sick of endeavoring to keep track of their own medicines and to look after each other. A white nurse was then called in, but having hardly half her wits, was still more undesirable than the sensibly ignorant negroes. Two other nurses were tried before they could receive any intelligent attention and treatment. Dr. Weller's experience is that of many others.

At noon to-day T. T. Stockton, business manager of the Times-Union, was critically ill. Mr. Clarke, the undertaker, is also worse, P. McQuaid, at Pablo, is reported being much improved. Zeph Harrison, the civil engineer, has been compelled to surrender to the fever. He has been taken to the sand hills.

Bishop Weed explains the situation in South Jacksonville as bad and growing worse, and anys that he has been obliged to hire two rowboats to carry supplies and people across the river. It is decided to bring to the attention of Dr. Porter and the Board of Health the importance of establishing a Government hospital in South Jacksonville, or of making other arrangements for taking care of the sick.

The Florida Sub-Tropical Exposition will open on Jan. 15. It is not within the possibility of things to make it the dazzling success of last year, but Florida intends to do her best, and trusts to be met indulgently by the winter guests.

In order to make a start in what may be alled the recognization of Jacksonville we have completely of the sick. Nurses were volunteers and without pay. If this oesn't suit them, send them back at my expense.

In order to make a start in what may be called the reorganization of Jacksonville, Mr.
C. B. Rogers has drawn up and is circulating the following petition:

To the Executive Committee of Jacksonville Auxiliary Sanitary Association: To the Executive Committee of Jacksonville Augment's Sanitary Association:

We, the undersigned business men and citizens of Duval county, respectfully request that immediate steps be taken to abolish all commissaries of relief, except the Central Station, and that rations be issued only to widows and orphans and decrepit persons. We believe that your efforts now being made to furnish work for indigenis should be continued. We are compelled to make this request in the interest of the public, and to make this request in the interest of the public, and to make this request in the interest of the public, and to make this request of the public and to make this request of the public and to make this request of the public.

aid in the efforts made by your committee to revive traffic to a normal condition.

Aithough Mr. Rogers started out late in the day with this document he succeeded in securing the signatures of nearly sixty citizens, embracing many prominent business men, brokers, physicians, and others. The petition will be presented to the committee in due season. This may lead to trouble, for the colored people are here and must be fed. There is no way of getting around this. In response to the inquirry of some charitable persons as to the things most needed by the poor of this city, the answer is, good beds and warm bed clothing, as the fumigating officer has laid hands on many of the necessaries of life.

The World's Champion Bicycle Race a Swindle.

BOSTON, Oct. 13 .- The fact has come to light that the so-called world's championship bicycle races between W. A. Rowe of Lynn and Ralph Temple of Chicago were a barefaced ed, but the money was given back before the first race. The understanding between the men was that Rowe should win one race. Temple another, and that the third should be a dead heat. The men had a squabble as to who should win the first race, and Temple who should win the first race, and violed to Rowe.

When the men mounted their machines for the Hartford race, Rowe told Temple that the agreement would be carried out. Temple's agreement would be carried out. Temple's a little suspicious, and one of agreement would be carried out. Temple's friends were a little suspicious, and one of them asserted that a stick would be thrown under Rowes wheel if he was ahead at the distance. That man tried to put his threat into execution, but Rowe's trainer, with revolver in hand, prevented it. Rowe won the second race, and was at once hustled into a carriage to escape mobbing. Temple's friends were naturally indignant. It was a snide game on both sides, and Rowe won. It is the first open swindle that has been attempted in this region, and 'cycle sportsmen are determined to make it warm for those concerned in it.

It's Chickens He's After.

A big chicken hawk, which was sweeping through the clouds over Third street and South Fifth avenue yesterday afternoon, attracted a large crowd. He confined his movements to a small circle, and several times ments to a small circle, and several times made a dash down as though he had his eye on some particularly nice and fat young fowl. A number of the foreign residents of that neighborhood keep chickens, and the cackling of the fowls showed that they had seen the enemy. When the reporter went away the hawk was poised high in air and hardly moving. If he doesn't go away he is likely to get into the Republican newspapers as the American eagle counting the colored vote.

An Old Hunter Fatally Shot by a Companion. HARRISBURG, Oct. 13 .- Joe Dull, a famous hunter, fisherman, trapper, and guide, who for many years has lived among the mountains of Central Pennsylvania, was fatally shot by Central Pennsylvania, was fatally shot by Thomas Wirt, who was hunting with him, on Wednesday. Dull and Wirt were going through the woods near McVey town, and Dull requested Wirt to hold his gun for a moment. The gun was cocked. Wirt threw it over his shoulder, and in doing so happened to touch the trigger of one barrel. It was discharged, and the entire load entered Dull's groin.
